The different editions THE SUN dur ing the next year will be the same as during she year that has just passed, The daily edition will on week days le a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages of the same di mensions and character that are already familiar to our friends, THE SUN will continue to be the strennous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisbom, and integrity hellow pretence, imbeculity, and fraud in the administration of public adairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to govern-ment by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes; enforced by milstary vio[ence. It will endeavor to sup ply its readers—a body not new far from a million of sends—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerons and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Wash ington, especially, will be full accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and erjoy the hatred of those who thrive by pundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confipence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power. The price of the daily Sun will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, postpaid or with the Seunday edition $7.70 a year The Sunday edition alone, eight pages $1.20 a year, post paid. The Warkly Sux, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, pos-

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the Weekly Sun can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making p claus At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends eleven or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge, At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are naerly repaid; and considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider The Weekly Sun the chespest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.
